The Veto Case

We [illegible] some extraordinary comments [illegible] the Veto Message of Gov. Gibbs in the Times of last Tuesday. We do not object to any thing that can be said in favor of the message, or the feeling that prompted it. No man doubts the sincerity of patriotism of Gov. Gibbs. We think that he regarded it as his duty to veto the bill requiring secession sympathizers to swear allegiance to the Government when they desired to draw money from the Treasury upon claims. We know further, how lightly, as a general fact, secessionists regard allegiance oaths. They profess, most of them, to be Union men, and yet they hope, as expressed by the Corvallis Union: "The success of the Southern Confederacy." It is on this account that the power was to be given by the bill vetoed to the Secretary to go back of the oath and to learn the true character of the applicant at the Treasury. This may be a great power, but is there not ample reason for it? The Governor suggests that the Treasury applicant should have the power of appeal to the Circuit Judge. We see no great objection to such a provision in the bill referred to, had it become a law.

We repeat that we do not complain of Gov. Gibbs for the exercise of what he believed to be a duty. He would not be the man we believe him to be, should he fail to do so; but while we thus award justice to him, we can see no reason for the use of such language as the following which the Times applies to a large majority of the two Houses of the Legislature, who are Union men, and who, like the Governor, are acting under the obligation of official oaths.

Thirty-four Senators and Representatives out of fifty voted for the vetoed bill; four Senators and twelve Representatives voted against it. So far as the people of the State were represented in the Legislature, there was a large majority of their Representatives for the bill.

We believe these Representatives were honest in their votes—and do not impeach those who voted in the opposition. And we say in all candor, they are not justly obnoxious to the allegations made directly and indirectly against them by the Times.

The Times says of them:

"It appears evident that some persons have an idea in order to be Union men, the first step required of them is to become downright fanatics." "We praise the Governor for having sense enough without being a fanatic."

We repeat that these imputations are unjust. We have not the vote of the Senate, but the following is the vote of the House. We do not regard the gentlemen whose names are among the yeas in the case as the men "who have an idea that to be Union men they must be downright fanatics," nor is the other sneer just, that the Governor has sense enough not to be a fanatic.

We give the vote on the question shall the bill pass the House notwithstanding the objections of the Governor. The vote resulted as follows. Messrs. Applegate, Collard, Conyers, Cumming, Dufur, Eagle, Gillette, Hemingway, Kearns, McClure, McCully, McCoy, Palmer, Ramsby, Richardson, Smith, Stevenson, Simpson, Wasserman, Wilkins, Watson, and Wilson voting for, and Messrs. Blair, Brown, Fay, Humason, Haines, Mallory, Minto, Morris, Reed, Vandyke, Witham, and Wilcox, against. So the bill was lost, two-thirds being necessary to its passage.

Pat Malone, who publishes a letter from a rebel officer in Richmond, to a rebel "in northern Oregon," declaring that the Southern people will succeed in breaking up the Government, with other traitors rejoices most obstreperously that traitors are not to be debarred from taking money from the treasury on account of their disloyalty. Under the circumstances, clearly, they have cause for rejoicing.

Our opinion in regard to traitors and their rights in the loyal States, are precisely those expressed by Gov. Gibbs in his inaugural address. He said:

"There is but one line between Union and disunion. Those who are not for us are against us. The proposition that the Government has no power to weaken its enemies, in open arms against it, by taking their property—that their lives may be taken, but not their property—is, to my mind, too absurd for discussion. A secessionist should have no property, in negroes, or anything else. PROPERTY IS POWER and should we leave it in rebel hands, to be wielded against us while the bones of our countrymen are bleaching on the fields of a hundred battles and while hundreds of thousands of our fellow citizens are liable to share the same fate."

These quotations are to the point. "Property is power." We would not give power to the rebels by permitting them to have access to the Treasury. We do not believe that traitors who are seeking to destroy the Government, have a right to property or life. Gov. Gibbs speaks with truth and power upon these points. Under no circumstances we shall not pander to the traitorous spirit which is rife in this State. We know what our fate would be had these traitors the power in their hands. The persecutions, the murders, the robberies, the conscriptions of patriotic citizens witnessed in Tennessee and the Southern States would have been re-enacted in Oregon.

Dalles Correspondence

DALLES, Oct. 15, 1862.

[illegible] this letter [illegible] [illegible] to tell me [illegible] Dalles [illegible] whether in writing of this [illegible] locality it is proper to write the Dalles [illegible] the Dalles [illegible] to write that the Dalles [illegible] [illegible] which may [illegible] weasel skins [illegible] rather [illegible] exercising the [illegible] the strength of their [illegible]. Next [illegible] will [illegible] supplied with good and wholesome water from Mill creek—the [illegible] arrived and the ditch [illegible] completed.

The [illegible] moving the railroad track [illegible] to more [illegible] nent [illegible] to d [illegible].

The [illegible] soon [illegible] taking up of the rail track [illegible] O. S. N. Company having nearly finished their portage at the Cascades [illegible] quite a force with a view to the speedy completion of the road from here to Celilo, the new landing, just this side the Falls at the Chutes.

In the way of building [illegible] activity exists—in every [illegible] more substantial [illegible] going up, and everywhere is heard the sound of the mechanic's hammer. The Methodists have [illegible] raised a large frame for devotional purposes, and the Congregationalists will soon have one in as forward a state of completion.

I have heard upon the streets considerable talk about a new paper soon to be started here, and rumor has it that our ultra Union citizens are at the bottom of the move. The same general rumor has it that the [illegible] the Mountaineer a fit subject for discussion, much dissatisfaction prevailing in consequence of late leaders in that journal which seemed to be efforts to depreciate and [illegible] the "promises to pay on demand" of Uncle Sam. Within a few days the stars and stripes have been displayed at the office of the Mountaineer and the same general [illegible] and says that the buzz of indignation has opened the eyes of the editor of that paper to the fact that it is bad policy to say the least to cast slurs upon the acts of the Union Administration. It has also been intimated quite publicly that the endeavor to depreciate United States paper was prompted by interested parties, as the Mountaineer remarked, a "determination on the part of our merchants not to touch the dirty rags" (I quote from memory) and that the counter feeling has had an origin with those to whom the Government was heavily indebted. Quien sabe? But at any rate it appears that our people desire to have a paper which is Union not from policy.

I have been prospecting around considerably for news, but it don't appear to pan out as yet, in fact the news which we look the most anxiously for comes through the Oregonian to us, it would do your heart good to see the crowd nearly eating your [illegible] here, when the boat gets in. No paper has so large a circulation at the Dalles as the Oregonian.

In military matters there are some moves and changes worth noting. General B. Alvord accompanied by Lieut. F. Mears, A. A. A. G., are on the point of leaving for the Upper Columbia and the Nez Perces country to investigate matters conected with the Indians. They arrived here last night. Maj. S. Francis, Paymaster, U. S. Army and Mr. Hill, Paymaster's Clerk, leave here also to-day for Walla Walla, Colville, etc., to give the faithful servants of Uncle Sam their modicum of the "needful."

Capt. Dowling's Company of W. T. Infantry arrived here on Monday night last, and went up to the garrison to relieve Capt. F[illegible]'s Company of 4th Infantry, California Volunteers. I hear that Capt. F's company are under orders for Benicia, California, and that they take their departure in about a week. It is no disparagement to any troops to say that Fort Dalles never sheltered a worthier set of officers and men than company "B," 4th Infantry California Volunteers. MORE ANON.

THE PRINTING BUSINESS.—The late census returns of manufacturing establishments in New York reveals the astonishing fact that more capital is employed in carrying on the printing trade than in any other business, the amount being over eight and a half millions! Over six thousand persons are employed in printing and the various establishments use up about five millions of dollars worth of raw material, ink, paper, &c., per year, producing over eleven millions worth of books, papers, &c., &c.

TWIGGS, THE TRAITOR.—The Little Rock True Democrat has the following obituary of Twiggs, showing to what base uses the mouth or tongue can be put in calling men and things by the wrong names:

General Twiggs is dead. He died full of years, and his name is, and will be honored by a grateful country. Unlike the traitor Scott, he gave up his position as Major General in the United States Army, and sided with the cause of freedom. Let us honor his memory, for he was a soldier and a patriot.

THE PRICE OF GOLD.—The Bulletin having telegraphed to the Chicago agent of the Associate press of California for the eastern opinion of the cause of the late rapid rise in gold has received this answer:

"The causes seem to be the large amount of paper currency in circulation, the speculative tendencies of Wall street, and the necessities of the Government for gold to pay interest. It can in no way be attributed to anything in the management of the war."

FATAL ILLNESS OF KOSSUTH.—A Scottish newspaper states that "poor Kossuth, the Hungarian patriot, is in the last stage of consumption and that probably before many weeks pass away a noble country will have to weep for the loss of one of her noblest and most gifted men."

The Sierra Nevada arrived at San Francisco on the 12th, with $123 650 treasure from Victoria and $274 850 from Portland. She made the run from Esquimalt to San Francisco in sixty four hours—the quickest trip on record.

Major McClellan, on being told of General Kearney being shot shed tears and exclaimed to the bearer of the message, "My best general officer is gone, and whom shall I put in his place?"

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

Dates to Oct. 14th.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—An important reconnoissance across the Potomac at Noland's Ford was made on the 8th. Passing through Waterford within three miles of Leesburg they captured a rebel wagon train in charge of a detachment of cavalry. Gen. Longstreet's official papers were found in one of the wagons, 9 muskets, and a number of [illegible], knapsacks and blankets.

A dispatch to Gov. Robinson says Wednesday night Wright retreated towards Harrodsburg, but was hemmed in. Kirby Smith's detachment having been separated from the rebel forces on Dick River. Thursday we [illegible] advantage, [illegible] all [illegible] the enemy. Our loss in killed and wounded on Wednesday was 1500. The enemy's loss was much larger.

WASHINGTON, October 11th.—Returned prisoners from Richmond say the treatment of Federal prisoners has been much better than [illegible] abundantly supplied with provisions.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 11th.—A portion of Gen. Buell's [illegible] was at [illegible] near Frankfort. We lost [illegible] Government and 15 sutler wagons. It is also reported that Kirby Smith's force captured 96 stragglers of Sumner's Division.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 11th.—The rebel raid to Chambersburg is not considered important. The disposition of Federal troops around Cumberland, Chambersburg, and other points, is such that the rebels will have to make a [illegible] return to Virginia by way of Hancock, or make a detour of Cumberland.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—Information received that rebels are still at Chambersburg. The rebels destroyed the machine shops and railway rolling stock of the Cumberland Valley Railroad at Chambersburg. They [illegible] received 400 horses and taken a large amount of Government clothing. It is thought that it has [illegible] the full intention of the rebels.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—A dispatch to the Navy Department from Com. Goodwin, giving an account of a combat attack at a battery of St. John's river, says the battery was a very powerful one, but it was most effectually silenced and the garrison was put to flight. Heavy guns, small arms and supplies have fallen into our possession. Our success is without loss on our side.

CAIRO, Oct. 11th.—The latest report from Corinth says our loss there was 200 killed and 550 wounded. We have buried nearly 1,000 rebels, and have taken 1000 of their wounded. The Grenada Appeal acknowledges a rebel defeat at Corinth and Hatchie, and says Price and Van Dorn penetrated to the centre of the town, but that this was a part of Rosecrans' strategy—he got the men in a trap. The result was they lost an entire brigade.

Brig. Gen. Arnold has assumed command of all military forces at New Orleans.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 11.—The battle of Wednesday was one of the fiercest on record. The forces of McCook and Rousseau were heavily outnumbered, but bravely withstood the shock of twice their number till evening, when Wood's division came to their relief. The rebels broke and retreated. Our forces pursued them till nightfall. The field was covered with wounded, dying and dead, but the loss of the rebels is not yet ascertained. From the disposition made by our corps we do not think it possible for them to go beyond Sanford. Crittenden did not reach the scene of engagement in time to participate. The rebels were so badly crippled that they could not carry away 7 pieces of artillery which they captured, besides 10,000 pounds of ammunition. Our army on Friday was between Perrysville and Harroldsburg. A messenger who left on the 11th, reports heavy firing when he left.

[Overland line has been down since the 11th.]

Later.

YREKA, Oct. 15.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Herald's Washington dispatch says: It is said that the failure to arrest Stewart and his cavalry while passing through Maryland is attributed to the Division commander at Poolesville.

FORTRESS MONROE, Oct. 13.—Richmond papers of the 9th contain an account of the battle of Corinth, and acknowledge the loss of 5,000 killed and wounded.

BOSTON, Oct. 14th.—Official orders have been ordered for drafting in Massachusetts, to commence to-morrow.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14th.—Reports of the late fighting at Corinth and Hatchie, continue to represent them as the most desperate of the war. Our loss estimated by the commander as high as two thousand killed and wounded. Rebels in retreat from Hatchie, threw away their arms by wagon loads, cutting their horses and mules loose from their wagons.

Exchange 146@147. Gold, 33¼@33½. Gold bars nominal. Sixes of '81, 104¼@104½.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—An immense democratic meeting was held at the Cooper Institute last night. Pierce Clark presided and speeches were made by Horatio Seymour, John Van Buren, John O'Gorman and other prominent democrats. It is estimated that over 50,000 persons were present.

SEDALIA, Mo., October 13th.—The sixth regiment Missouri State militia have, in several scouting expeditions, in the past few days, broke up various bands of guerrillas killing about fifty of them, and capturing large correspondence of interest.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14th.—The War Department have received dispatches from Gen. Pope to the effect that the Sioux war is at an end.

FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA.—The miners will leave Cariboo about the 20th of October. Some of the rich claims were improving in richness.

On the 12th of September last a courtesan named Johanna McGuire left Williams' creek with $3,000 in dust to bail a man who was imprisoned at the Forks of the Quesnelle. She was subsequently seen on the road with an unknown man, and soon afterwards her body was found in the bushes with its throat cut from ear to ear.

A miner from Oregon, named Harry Keithley, stabbed Jane Ashmore seriously in Victoria recently.

At Williams Lake recently, Dutch or David Gilchrist, formerly policeman in Sacramento, while quarreling with another gambler accidentally shot and killed an American named N. S. Pierce, who was on his way to Williams' creek. Gilchrist escaped to the woods, but was captured after two days hunt.

There is great excitement in Cariboo about new mines on Peace river. They are reported rich and extensive.

The Cariboo Indians have taken to highway robbery.

James Webster was shot and killed by George Lawrence, his brother-in-law, in Victoria recently.

A chartered bank to issue paper will soon commence operations in Victoria.

A number of persons have arrived lately from Canada overland.

The population of the Sandwich Islands in 32 was 120,000; it has since been decreased by disease to half that number. The race will ultimately be supplied by American and Europeans.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—General Wright refuses to allow C. L. [illegible] Kewen, who was arrested for treasonable sentiments, to take the oath of allegiance. Kewen thought his arrest a [illegible] joke on the steamer as he proposed to take the oath when he got here.

[illegible] Gillespie, who was arrested in Sacramento several [illegible] arrived by the Sacramento boat. After stopping at the Provost Guard House last night he was taken to Alcatraz this morning. [illegible] one of the most [illegible] traitors [illegible] short time since [illegible] a Secesh flag at Sacramento during a [illegible] hurrahing for Jeff Davis. [illegible] He thought he would stop at the Russ House during the night, take the oath and return to-day.

The Daily Oregonian.

CITY.

THE MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

THE DAILY OREGONIAN may be had at the Franklin Book Store, and at Charles Barrett's, Front street.

JUSTICE'S COURT.—In Justice Barr's Court on Saturday, James Logerty was fined five dollars for assault and battery on the person of an old man named John Daly. As he left the office he saw the old man and again fell on him and beat him severely, and then ran to the woods. He was arrested again on Sunday night by Marshal Grooms, and fined $10 and costs. In default of bail he [illegible] $100 as security for keeping the peace with all the people of the State for six [illegible].

BENEFIT OF COLUMBIAN 3's.—This fire company has been tendered a complimentary benefit by Martin, the Wizard, to take place to-night at the Willamette Theatre. The boys, with delegations from the other companies, will meet at No. 3's house in uniform, about dark, and with a band of music and torches, form a procession and have a grand parade through our principal streets. No little fun and a refreshing time generally may be expected. There will be a big rush to obtain [illegible] at the opening of the box office this morning.

[illegible].—We notice several of the members of the late Legislature in town. We acknowledge calls from Hons. Gillette, of [illegible], and Stephenson, of Coos.

Letter from the Dalles.

DALLES, Oct. 16, 1862.

EDS. OREGONIAN: [illegible] continue to come in. Many of [illegible] in bad plight. Judging from [illegible], most of them were poor, and [illegible] provided, when they left the Missouri, [illegible] much worse off here. There are some [illegible], and apparently well to do families, [illegible] this is an exception. A good many [illegible] encamped about the city intending to [illegible]. They do not seem to be impressed [illegible] the importance of making most of their [illegible].

[illegible] that supplies are being rapidly and [illegible] pushed for the mines. There is [illegible] here of the importance, extent, and [illegible] of the gold discoveries on John [illegible]. Men are continually coming in [illegible], and they bring the dust with [illegible].

[illegible] is improving very steadily. The [illegible] yet exceed the building accommodations. Our merchants have heavy stocks of [illegible] they are sold at a small advance on cost and charges. Your merchants [illegible] to it that these establishments do not cut in to the wholesale business of [illegible]. There is no suffering here for the [illegible] probably some with them.

[illegible] Logan, who was, with his aids at the [illegible] State Fair, preceded by them, left to-day for the Agency. No doubt is expressed here that he is fulfilling his duties in the best manner, to the advantage of his command and creditable to himself. Mr. Bancroft, recently on a visit to Portland to purchase goods, passed through this city on yesterday on his way to [illegible] at Simcoe.

[illegible] not seem to be a doubt among the [illegible] informed circles here, that no fear [illegible] entertained of any trouble with the [illegible] on the frontier the coming winter [illegible] of Snakes, high up on that river, [illegible] be troublesome until punished. [illegible] success they have had the present [illegible] encourage them to further acts of [illegible] and the only way to put a stop to [illegible] is to chastise them severely. [illegible] fourths, if not nine tenths, of the [illegible] about Indian fights and massacres on Snake river, are untrue. A few persons have been killed by the Indians—probably the result of their own imprudence. In [illegible] through an Indian country, companies should have a military organization—[illegible] the Indians off—and never allow them to be surprised. This done, and there [illegible] no fear from Indians.

[illegible] false stories of murders by Indians [illegible] put in circulation, we cannot understand. [illegible] paper now before me says that [illegible] expedition of sixty men to Burnt river, were killed by the Indians—a story [illegible] of whole cloth, woof and chain. [illegible] of the same character are equally [illegible]. There has been, however, a small fight [illegible]. That river is the home of In[illegible]. A prospecting company which had [illegible] found the Indians hostile. They [illegible] reinforcements and sustained their [illegible]. The prospect for gold on Boise [illegible] better and more extensive than on [illegible] or Powder. I will write again.

TRAVELER.

[illegible] AND MCDOWELL.—The Rochester, (New York) Democrat has been told on what [illegible] authority, that during the fight [illegible] of Washington, Gen. McDowell took [illegible] pocket a white handkerchief which [illegible] to the end of his sword and was [illegible] signaling to some one. General [illegible] seeing the act, rode up and demanded [illegible] McDowell's reason for such conduct. McDowell replied that it was none of his business, at the same time cursing him as a "d—d [illegible]" whereupon the latter drew a [illegible] and fired at McDowell, the ball striking the latter's sword hilt and glancing off.

[illegible] WITH HUMOR.—An applicant for exemption on account of physical disability [illegible] the examining physician that he was troubled with heart disease. The doctor told [illegible] to run up and down the stairs leading to his office once or twice. The applicant did so, when the physician after listening to the beat of the heart, said, "You will pass. [illegible] a dollar, if you please." "But doctor," said the man, "let me run down stairs once more, and then try me." The doctor assented, the man ran down stairs and—forgot to come back.—New Bedford Mercury.

ADJOURNED.—The State Legislature adjourned on Friday last, at three o'clock P. M.

MULTNOMAH ENGINE CO. NO. 2.—The members of Multnomah Engine Co. No. 2 are requested to assemble at their Engine House this (Monday) evening at half past six o'clock in uniform, for the purpose of attending the benefit tendered Columbian Engine Co. No. 3.
By order, BEN L. NORDEN, Sec'y.
Oct. 20, 1862.

COLUMBIANS NO. 3.—The members of Columbian Engine Co. No. 3 will meet at their Engine House in uniform at six o'clock this evening, to attend the benefit at the Willamette Theatre tendered them by Martin the Wizard. Delegations from other fire companies will meet at No. 3's house, at seven o'clock, to escort them to the Theatre.
By order of W. B. CLARKE, Foreman.

State Agricultural Society—Premium Essay

[illegible]

SOIL AND [illegible] OF AGRICULTURAL LANDS

The two natural divisions of Oregon differ in respect to the quality of their soil as well as in climate. The plateaux of Eastern Oregon have a mineral, rich soil whose chief component is silt, and containing but a small amount of vegetable matter. Little attention has been paid to its capabilities for agricultural purposes until very recently. The experiments, so far as tried, have proved exceedingly gratifying, and many persons maintain that these uplands are destined to be the best grain lands in the State. But the natural adaptation of these immense tracts, is to grazing—cattle herding and kindred pursuits. Rolling prairies and level plains of almost illimitable extent, stretch out from the foot of the Cascade Mountains almost to the eastern border of the State, and are covered with luxuriant bunch grass, (festuca,) affording an inexhaustible pasture for any amount of stock. This grows in large tufts not joined together by their fibrous roots, as is the case with most other grasses. It grows to different heights, from six to eighteen inches, according to the quality of the soil. In nutritive properties, it is not excelled by any grass known. Attaining its full growth about the time the dry season commences, it cures into a fine, flavorous hay, which, owing to the absence of dew in this region, in the summer, remains excellent until the autumn rains come, when the whole country is again covered with green grass.

Mountain streams, having their sources in the mountain chains, intersect these table lands, flowing through valleys and condes of various dimensions and amazing fertility. The valleys of the Deschutes and its tributaries, are all that have been extensively tested with cereals, and they have yielded very large crops. Vegetables of nearly all varieties, yield almost fabulous crops. Indian corn does as well in Eastern Oregon as in any State in the Union, and will soon become a staple production. Fruit promises finely. This is thought to be as good a fruit country as that west of the Cascade Mountains, so justly denominated the "fruit garden of America."

Its hot summers admirably adapt Eastern Oregon to the culture of Sorghum or Chinese Sugar Cane, and sufficient trial has been made to warrant the assertion that this plant can be produced here as successfully as in any of the Northwestern States.—Judge Laughlin, of Wasco County, who has paid some attention to the cultivation of this plant, in a published letter of his, dated Jan 12, 1861, says "I have cultivated some [Sorghum] the past two years, and find it grows remarkably well. * * * It will produce double as much food as anything [else] I can raise on the same amount of land. * * * Mr Phelps, of this county, has made some very nice syrup, and intends cultivating a crop for that purpose next season."

The cost of making this syrup will not exceed fifty cents per gallon. Its market value can not be less than one dollar per gallon, throughout the country, and two or three times as great in the mines. Planted in April, the sugar cane matures well, and yields a large per cent of saccharine juice. A farmer who would give his entire attention to cultivating sorghum and manufacturing syrup, in Eastern Oregon, could not fail of amassing a large amount of money in a very short space of time.

But the most important agricultural district in Western Oregon, and probably in the whole State, is the Willamette valley. It is separated from the Umpqua by the Calapooia mountains, a densely timbered belt, having an altitude of about 5,000 feet, and extending from the Cascade to the Coast range. This valley is drained by the Willamette river, flowing north into the Columbia, and which is navigable to the distance of one hundred and thirty miles from its mouth, direct measure, with only a single obstruction—the Falls at Oregon City.

No person can survey the Willamette valley, with its alternations of rich meadowlike prairies, undulations, and beautiful streams, without feeling that he beholds the most delightful spot in America. The agricultural country lying along the banks of the Willamette, includes an area nearly equal to that of the entire State of Connecticut, with a combination of advantages inferior to no other section of the United States. Mr William H Knight describes this valley as "possessing a soil of unsurpassed fertility, a mild and genial climate, an abundant growth of timber, large natural pastures where stock may range unsheltered the year round, an excellent commercial position, superior facilities for transportation, and a rapidly increasing population." This is stating the case in rather too strong a light, and requires some qualification in two of its particulars. The population of the Willamette Valley has not increased very rapidly for some years past, owing to causes which will become manifest when the subject of Commerce is discussed.—And the other modification proposed is, that we sometimes have a "cold snap" of two or three weeks duration in the winter, and the last winter still longer, so that stock may not "range unsheltered the year round" every year, and should not be forced to do so any year, as the continuous rains of the winter months are very injurious to all kinds of domestic animals. Aside from this slight inaccuracy, Mr Knight's description is certainly a very correct one, and the impulse given to the State by the recent discovery of extensive gold fields on the eastern border of the State, cannot fail to make it become speedily true in respect to the increase of population.

This Valley is mostly smooth, prairie land, large bodies of it undulating, but not hilly, interspersed at intervals never greater than a few miles, often much less, with streams of various sizes, flowing in across the Valley from the mountains on either side. Ranges of low hills, covered with oak timber are common throughout the Valley.

Some of the largest affluents of the Willamette, as the Santiam, Yamhill, and Tualatin, are navigable to considerable distances into the interior, while the [illegible] water power [illegible] of [illegible] machinery [illegible] purposes.

The Willamette in common with all the region of the Pacific coast belongs to the tertiary period. Shells [illegible] petrifactions are numerous, and [illegible] fossils have been found in various places, indicating a very recent formation.
